Recent news and research

3.9 Increased susceptibility to infection in smokers

Last updated March 201

News reports:

3.9.4 Tuberculosis

3.9.5 Risks for and complications of HIV

Research:

Higuchi, T, Omata, F, Tsuchihashi, K, Higashioka, K, Koyamada, R, Okada, S. Current cigarette smoking is a reversible cause of elevated white blood cell count: Cross-sectional and longitudinal...

3.9.1 Acute respiratory infections (shared section with 3.2.3 Respiratory, acute)

3.9.3 Pneumococcal and meningococcal disease

3.9.4 Tuberculosis

Zellweger, JP et al. Tobacco and tuberculosis: could we improve tuberculosis outcomes by helping patients to stop smoking? The European Respiratory Journal, 2015. Available from:

3.9.5 Risks for and complications of HIV

3.9.8 Periodontitis (Shared section Dental 3.11.1)

3.9.11 Other immunological effects